Description

The apartment is located in a beautiful Palazzo, situated on the south side of the river Arno. On one side, it overlooks Via de' Bardi, and on the other it enjoys spectacular, if not unique, views over the Ponte Vecchio, the Uffizi Gallery and the Cathedral. The building's original structure dates back to the 15th century, when a myriad of little cobbled roads branched off from the Ponte Vecchio into the Oltrarno, one of the city's most charming and typical quarters.

The Arno's banks were flanked by buildings belonging to wealthy aristocratic families, and for this reason their residences were known as Palazzi. The Palazzo was restored in the 19th century, when the architect Enrico Poggi was asked to draw up an architectural and landscape plan to turn Florence into a capital city, a role which it maintained for five years, between 1865 and 1870. Poggi wanted to give Florence a look of uniformity and subdued elegance without creating a violent contrast with its Renaissance architecture. He therefore decided to maintain the Renaissance color palette of cream plaster and grey pietra serena stone, which is visible in so many buildings throughout the city.

Accommodation details:

This elegant and colourful apartment is situated on the second floor and is serviced by an elevator and a doorman. It consists of a cozy entry hall/dining area with a round table for 4/6, with framed prints and lovely wall lamps, a bright living room with a sofa and armchairs, and a very well equipped modern kitchen. There are 2 bedrooms; the master bedroom is beautifully decorated in shades of blue and white with an important Empire chest of drawers. The double bed may be converted in twin beds and the bathroom en-suite has a shower. The single bedroom (1 twin bed) has its private bathroom (tub and hand shower) in the corridor.

The master bedroom and living room have windows with full views of the river Arno and the Uffizi Gallery among other sights. The furnishings are a mixture of modern and antique.

The apartment has an armored door, it is 78 Sqm, and located on the 2nd Floor.
