Description

The apartment is located in the elegant Piazza Antinori , inside a beautiful Palazzo, which dates back to the 14th century, when Florence was beginning to expand beyond its original Roman centre.

It was only later, towards the mid 15 th century, that Via Tornabuoni and Piazza Antinori were expanded and became the place where rich Florentines bought and refurbished large buildings to turn them into stately homes. Throughout the centuries, Palazzo was extensively remodelled, acquiring its present day aspect around the mid 18 th century.

Accommodation details:

This large and sunny apartment is located in the elegant Piazza Antinori on the 4th floor (American 5th) of the building.

It is composed by a large rectangular hall with a window. The furniture is marbled with golden and blue colors. The entrance leads you into a very large living room with 2 windows facing the dome, the tower of Giotto and the stunning facade of the church of San Gaetano, the only baroque church in Florence. There is an ornamental fireplace and three very large sofas. The walls are elegantly decorated with ancient and beautiful prints.

From the living room you enter into a double bedroom with bathroom en-suite (tub) and there is also a second bathroom for guests (tub). Between the master bedroom and bathroom, there is a spacious walk-in wardrobe. The kitchen is small, but fully equipped and has a window. A bar-ledge runs along the wall under the window for breakfast time.

The apartment has independent heating, air-conditioning, bell and buzzer, telephone (hi speed Internet), satellite TV (LCD), 4-burner gas stove, oven, fridge/freezer, crockery, two sets of linen and towels.

The apartment is served by a lift and has a day-time porter service.
